WAHA International is an International NGO founded in 2009, whose mission is to improve access to health services and the quality of healthcare in disadvantaged communities and to disadvantaged populations such as refugees and IDPs. Since the outbreak of the current refugee crisis in Europe and the Middle East, WAHA has been present in all key locations in order to provide health services through rescues, screening, primary healthcare, psychological support and referrals to those in need through the use of mobile, semi-fixed and fixed clinics.

In Greece, WAHA began its project in September 2015, covering key locations in Athens, the North and various first-reception islands. Key partners in WAHA's operations have included UNHCR, the Greek Ministry of Health, the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the European Commission's Humanitarian Aid and Civil Protection department (ECHO) through its partnership with Arbeiter-Samariter-Bund (ASB). WAHA has conducted over 50,000 medical consultations since the start of its activities in Greece.

WAHA is always seeking qualified medical staff who would like to invest their time and skills in this worthwhile cause.
